

"YES" ON TAX ELECTION BY 971 VOTES

Yes In 24 Of 32 Precincts

The Jefferson Union High School District won its tax election last night, 5,022 to 4,051—a majority of 971 votes. Thus the high school district tax rate jumps from $1.35 to $2.

The final precinct tabulated and reported at 9:27 p.m., verifying what had appeared from the beginning to be a victory. All but eight of the 32 precincts carried the increase, the largest majority coming from a Laguna Salada precinct, 236-138, and the biggest deficit from a Jefferson precinct, 138-181.

Total votes cast in the election was 9,078, representing 27.5 per cent of the district's 35,000 registered voters.

"About par for the course," said High School Superintendent Edward Morgan. "Last time, with two other districts going, we hit only 30 per cent."

No precinct overwhelmingly favored the increase, just as no precinct overwhelmingly rejected it, but the trend from the time the first precinct reported indicated that the increase was to pass. Of the 9,078 votes cast, 55.3 per cent voted "yes."

Board of Trustees chairman James Cooper indicated that primary shares of the credit for the measure's success had to go to the Citizens' Tax Committee and PTA groups.

"The PTA's must get a major share of the credit for the victory," he stated. "All the post cards that were mailed, and all the phone calls made the night before, were the work of the Citizens' Committee and the PTA's."

As far as the turnout was concerned, Cooper stated that 25 to 30 per cent was about normal. "Unless there's a controversial issue, you won't get more. And there was no controversial problem involved."

In the other San Mateo County election, Bayshore Elementary District voted for a 50 cent increase—$1.50 to $2—by a majority of 209 to 141.

4 Indicted On Car Insurance Defraud Count

Four men accused of conspiring to defraud an insurance company by the phony theft and genuine destruction of an automobile in Daly City were named in indictments voted by the San Francisco Grand Jury on Feb. 5.

The car, a 1961 model, belonged to one of the quartet, James McCracken, 30, a plumber, of 4233 24th street, who reported it "stolen" early last month, police said.

On Jan. 3 the auto was found abandoned in Daly City with its engine missing and the rest of the car bashed in, apparently with a sledge hammer. McCracken filed a claim with his auto insurance company, but investigation led to his arrest. Also arrested were his alleged helpers, Richard Marsalli, 23, of 1411 Oakdale avenue; his brother, Robert Marsalli, 30, of Daly City, and Edward DeVaney, 22 (no local address).

The Grand Jury also voted to indict:

Harry Arhrndt, 330 21st avenue, and Charles Rodrick, 22, Daly City, on burglary charges in a Jan. 3 safe theft of $259 from a Mission street wholesale firm.

Pigeon Rescued By City Firemen

The Daly City Fire Department added another gold star to its list on February 5 when they came to the aid of Mr. E. L. Kose, 271 Fairlawn.

They freed a pigeon caught in her chimney.

Last week the firemen extracted a fishhook from a cat's paw at 120 Santa Barbara avenue.

The department's crowning achievement, however, was the week of January 17, when they 1) Disengaged a raven's foot from its feeding dish at the Mrs. D. Newman residence, 265 Oliver street; 2) Put out a fire set in a portable toilet by youths near construction work at the rebuilt Jefferson High gymnasium; and 3) Freed seven-year-old Shawna Rose's fingers from an egg beater at 72 Garden Grove.

City Purchaser Sporting Casts On Both Feet

Robert Evans, City Purchaser for Daly City, is currently sporting casts on both feet from two unrelated bone breaks sustained last week. The first foot went as he stepped from the front porch of his home at 325 Higate. He was taken to Kaiser Hospital in San Francisco for the setting.

Break number two came the following day at the slipper on the curb in front of the purchasing department office at 5 Wellington avenue. He was taken back to Kaiser.

Evans didn't know the name of the small bone that broke in each foot, but said the doctors told him, "It was one that doesn't usually break."

Raised the teachers salary schedule to $5,000-$10,000. Steps of increase will be decided later. The former salary range was $4,900-$9,563.

Transferred $63,000 in funds to the Capital Outlay account. Agreed to have eighth grade graduation exercises at both Ben Franklin and Colma schools held outside and in the afternoon.

Designated two members of the Board of Trustees to serve on the Sabbatical Leave Committee for 1962-1963.

Accepted a gift of $150 from the Daniel Webster PTA to be used for the purchase of books for the Daniel Webster school library.

Proposed to review a copy of the contract now in force between the school district and the City of Daly City. It is a procedural review.

One More Tries For The Council

During the week one more name was added to the list of citizens circulating nomination papers to run for Daly City Council seat vacancies.

Worried Broker Takes His Life

Albert E. Schmidt, 46, of 98 Templeton avenue, Daly City, took his own life Feb. 1 with a .22 rifle.

A broker at Security Realty, 5701 Mission street, Schmidt was reported by his wife, Lena, to be despondent over financial and business problems.

San Mateo Coroner's deputies said Schmidt took his life with a .22 caliber rifle, holding the weapon against his heart.

The shooting occurred in the afternoon at the Schmidt home. His brother, Lawrence, found the body. The victim was transported to Community Hospital for an autopsy and then taken to the San Mateo County coroner's office.

OUT ON THE BRINK—Caterpillar tractor sits poised on the edge of steep Southern Hills subdivision development in Daly City. Grading job is said to be about the most difficult in the Bay Area, due to the steep terrain. The $16,000,000 project will be completed in 1963.

Former Mayor Heads Britschgi Campaign

Assemblyman Carl A. Britschgi, who has served as San Mateo County's representative to the State Legislature since 1956, last week announced that Hugh A. Wayne, San Mateo mayor and civic leader, will act as his campaign chairman for the primary election on Tuesday, June 5.

In accepting the appointment, Wayne said that he had been acquainted with Britschgi for many years and has been impressed by the competent manner with which the 26th district assemblyman has represented local residents in Sacramento.

CARL A. BRITSCHGI

Wayne said that it will be his goal as Britschgi's campaign chairman to form a large, district-wide committee of citizens who will work to obtain a record-breaking vote majority for Britschgi at the polls on June 5. Wayne pointed out that Britschgi's experience in government extends over a period of 20 years. He held his first elective post as a Redwood City council member starting in 1942 and served continuously in that post for 14 years until elected to the State Assembly eight years ago.

Britschgi was born in Menlo Park, attended the public schools there and is a graduate of the University of Santa Clara, where he received a degree in business administration. He presently lives with his family in Redwood City.

Fairmont Hotel Scene For A
Gala Champagne Days Theme

"CHAMPAGNE DAYS OF SAN FRANCISCO," the theme of the Westlake Catholic Women's eighth annual style luncheon held on Saturday, Feb. 3, was a golden day indeed for the 1,600 women in attendance. Upon entering the grand ballroom of the Fairmont Hotel, all were captivated by the stately elegance of the room. On each table, as a centerpiece, was a golden ice bucket, in which nestled a bottle of champagne with a glass decoratively attached with a full bow.

Mrs. Frank Burns, chairman of the day, conducted a smooth and gracious event. Relatives of Mrs. Burns who were seated together at one table were her mother Mrs. Michael Roddy, her aunt Mrs. John Fitzpatrick, her sister Mrs. John Fitzpatrick from Burlingame, her cousins the Misses Carrola, her sister-in-law Mrs. Everett Burns, along with Mrs. Young of Richmond and Mrs. Edward Johnson of Greenbrae. Mrs. Burns also entertained a group from Our Lady of The Angels parish and another from St. Peter's Alumnae, of which she is a member.

Assisting Mrs. Burns as co-chairman was Mrs. Paul Neagle, who was seated at the speaker's table with the Reverend Father Richard Power, Pastor of Our Lady of Mercy Parish, assistant Pastor Reverend Father Timothy Monahan, Mrs. Albert Buccell, president of the Westlake Catholic Women, outstanding and beloved Catholic laywoman Mrs. John Connolly, archdiocesan president of the National Council of Catholic Women, Miss Mary O'Farrell president of the San Francisco chapter of the National Council Women, and Mrs. Dorothy Amestoy, the public relations director of H. Liebes. Mrs. Paul Neagle's mother, Mrs. Claire Hiron of Burlingame, and her aunt Mrs. L. B. Just enjoyed the festivities at a table near-by.

Mrs. Albert Buccell welcomed all present and presented Mrs. Burns, who in turn asked Father Power to address the group. The pastor charmed everyone, as usual, with his wit and sincerity. At a table

Woodrow Wilson Kids
Visit A Post Office

Miss Darlene Moresco's second-grade class, Woodrow Wilson School, took a trip to the Westlake Post Office on Wednesday, Jan. 31. The children saw the many processes a letter or package goes through. They watched the clerks using many of the new machines which make their work more efficient.

Bank Visit

Thursday, Feb. 1, 1962, Mrs. Bertha Kessler's fourth grade, Woodrow Wilson, enjoyed a visit to the Wells Fargo Bank, Mission San Francisco De Asis (Mission Dolores) and the display of models of the 21 California Missions at the Cliff House.

Mrs. Lloyd Selmi, room mother, accompanied the group.

Several children expressed a desire to have their parents take them to the Wells Fargo History Room soon again when they will have more time to browse.

close by Mrs. Buccell entertained her mother Mrs. Thomas J. Hart, her sister Mrs. Thomas J. Monahan, her niece Miss Carolyn Monahan, who is a Freshman at St. Elizabeth's High School in Oakland and was attending her first hotel fashion show, her sister-in-law Mrs. Thomas S. Hart, and dear family friends Mrs. Frank Kelley and Mrs. Timothy Dillon.

Mrs. John Fox, housekeeper at the Our Lady of Mercy Rectory, hosted her sister Mrs. Agnes Pichon, her niece Mrs. John Crocker, and Mrs. Celesta Parry, Mrs. Carmel Hutchins, Mrs. John O'Brien, Mrs. Myrtle McManus and Mrs. Marion Stone.

After taking care of reservations, Mrs. Edward Molkenbuehr Jr. and Mrs. James Pidgeon joined their groups. Mrs. George H. Frates visiting here from Washington D.C. enjoyed the style luncheon with her daughter Mrs. Molkenbuehr. Mrs. Jack Rose, Mrs. Robert Buckley, Mrs. Eugene Lynch, Mrs. Howard Dunbar and Mrs. Lloyd Leis, Mrs. Rose and Mrs. Harvey Christensen were responsible for the numerous and exciting gifts. The awards were beautifully wrapped in gold to carry out the Champagne Days theme.

Directing the duties of the lovely hostesses were Mrs. Dino Tonelli and Mrs. Rodney Hamblin. Joining Mrs. Hamblin at her table were her sister-in-law Mrs. Dario Scopel and Mrs. Raymond Agosti, Mrs. Julius Chahica, Mrs. David Diltz, Mrs. George Draulich and Miss Norma Roggiani.

Programs chairman Mrs. Aldo Della Santa and Mrs. Edward Ewing were responsible for the hands-on programs which carried out the theme minutely, and detailed the day's events. Both ladies entertained groups of Out-of-parish friends at their respective tables.

Secretary Mrs. Joseph Hamblin hosted her mother Mrs. Fred Peretto, her sister Mrs. Joseph Gaggero, her sister-in-law Mrs. Peretto and Mrs. Fred Peretto and Mrs. Peter Maloney, Mrs. Gene Delfino, and Mrs. Robert Collins.

Cheers to Mrs. Raymond Fassler and Mrs. Robert Wagner for the difficult task of decorations. The results of their talents added much to the day's enjoyment and the champagne centerpieces were conversation pieces indeed. Seated at Mrs. Fassler's table were her mother Mrs. Frank Mango, her mother-in-law Mrs. Paula Fassler, her sisters-in-law Mrs. Frank Mango and Mrs. Dolder, and family friends. With Mrs. Wagner were her mother Mrs. Martin, her aunt Miss Lorraine Martin, Mrs. Hans Hemmerle with her mother Mrs. John McLaughlin and her mother-in-law Mrs. Hans Hemmerle, Mrs. Vincent O'Conner with her mother Mrs.

Lucius Myers, Mrs. Michael Egan of Sacramento and her mother Mrs. John Brooks, Mrs. Paul Hovorka and Mrs. Mike Church.

Mrs. Walter McElroy and Mrs. Jack Maher were the investment chairmen and had time for little else but be sure all the tickets were made. The winners were: Mrs. P. J. O'Connor, the $200 H. Liebes gift certificate; the mink-colored cashmere went to Mrs. Wayne Britton, and the weekend for two at Los Laureles Lodge in Carmel was won by Mrs. James Bresnahan. Mrs. McElroy was hostess to Mrs. Ray Salvoni, Mrs. Ed Riedy, Mrs. William Minton, Mrs. William Conroy, Mrs. Cal LaLanne and Mrs. Thomas Callan Jr.

Behind the scenes with the models, chairmen Mrs. Joseph Crowley and Mrs. Byron Davenport spent a full afternoon attending to all the details that go into making a successful fashion show. The models, all chosen from the membership of the Westlake Catholic Women, looked like "pros" on the runway, and the three teenagers from the parish high school Sodality, were poised and charming. A particular highlight of the day was the appearance of Mrs. Thomas Leach, dressed in three costumes from the Champagne Days era. Mrs. Leach has an extensive collection of these authentic gowns and her presentation added much to the pleasure of the show.

Assisting the models on and off the runway were Mrs. Fred Arnke and Mrs. Frank Kelecahava, who were elegantly gowned in fashions of the theme era.

As always the H. Liebes store, with their fashion show coordinator Mrs. Osborne, afforded the models the opportunity to present the very newest in Spring fashions, which ran the gamut from the casual separates, to afternoon wear, to exquisite after 5 gowns and furs. Every color was represented. The emphasis was placed on femininity, wearability, and simple elegance. The jeweled-toned prints were particularly lovely, as were the luxurious furs.

Mrs. Thomas Daly, commentator for the show, presented her descriptions of the fashions in her own calm, gracious manner, which must have been a great help to any of the models who may have experienced a few "butterflies" before their stint on the runway.

Walter Tolleson and his orchestra added to the fun by appearing in costumes in keeping with the Champagne Days theme. Hair styles were created for all the models by the H.

The View From Behind The Badge

Written and Edited by Daly City Police Department

Police Killers

During the five year period from 1956-60, 237 city policemen met violent death in the line of duty. This picture is not complete unless we mention that, in 1960, six out of every one hundred police officers were assaulted while carrying out their duties.

Many of these assaults were of a serious nature, separated from life or death by a very thin line. Even so, the hazards of the police profession are too often forgotten in the daily "routine" of traffic enforcement, patrol duty, and even arrests.

In 1960, 48 city police officers were killed in the line of duty. Twenty eight men died at the hands of killers, with the remainder being killed in various types of accidents, with traffic taking a heavy toll.

During this period, eight officers were killed while operating motorcycles, and five died in auto accidents. Three officers killed in accidents were struck by motorists. Of these, one officer was struck and killed while directing traffic. The other two were killed by a drunken juvenile driver.

Of the 28 officers murdered, eight were slain by killers while answering "disturbance" complaints. Such complaints range from "a loud drunk" to "man with a gun," and from domestic disturbances to riots.

The eight killers involved here had been arrested a total of 56 times. These ranged from one to 35 arrests for each person. Two of these people were later declared insane.

Four police officers were slain by criminals while attempting arrests based on previous criminal acts. This emphasizes the fact that personal danger is present to every officer on every arrest.

Sixteen policemen were killed while on patrol, having interrupted criminals in the act of their crime.

Examining the total killings against the standard police day, we observe the following breakdown: 16 officers were slain between 4 p.m. and 12 midnight; nine men were killed between midnight and 8 a.m.; three officers were killed between 8 a.m. and 4 p.m.

Preventive Techniques
Caution is the best preventive. Officers must be instilled with the thought that no arrest is really routine.

Good technical procedures are important. Complete searches of prisoners, proper restraint of prisoners, and refusal of all favors to prisoners is necessary. One officer died in 1960 because he granted a favor to a prisoner.

"Disturbance" calls should be approached with the thought that they may be serious, until they prove otherwise. Often, at the scene of such a problem, the officers will find an emotionally upset person, but one who has the advantage of knowing what he is going to do. The officer cannot know what he is going to do, because he is, of necessity, a "counterpuncher." In most cases he can only react to the other person's actions.

J. Edgar Hoover, Director of FBI, has this to say:

"The policeman's daily duty is one of hard reality, a blend of complaints concerning barking dogs and noisy boys, traffic snarls and traffic tragedy, and along with it the dangers inherent in the hardened criminal, the emotionally disturbed, the mentally unstable, the 'trigger happy punk,' and the careless motorist."

In the Daly City Department, we endeavor to remind each officer of the background of those whom he arrests. This is meant to underline the fact that no arrest is necessarily routine. This is done by placing notices on the Daily Bulletin, which is read at roll call prior to each watch. Veteran officers are frequently amazed at the background of a person arrested by them on a relatively innocuous matter.

An example—Officer Donohue recently arrested a person as a drunk, as the result of a complaint of a disturbance in a tavern. The suspect's background, as listed on the Daily Bulletin, indicates "INFO: (Name), arrested 1-3-62 by Officer Donohue as a drunk, has also been arrested for unemployment insurance fraud, concealed weapon, drunk driving, burglary, bookmaking, gun law, failure to purchase a gambling stamp, and drunk."

A routine arrest? As it turned out, yes. With such a background, however, it could be fortunate that the officer approached the situation with caution, and that he used appropriate restraint on his prisoner. At least, Officer Donohue is still with us.

In Reserve

Raymond R. GONELLA, 22-year-old college student and part-time nurseryman, has accrued 768 hours of duty time with the Daly City Police Reserve. Gonella has lived all of his life in Daly City, is a Jefferson High School graduate, and presently studies criminology.

William John KOMO, 41-year-old construction superintendent, has completed four years with the Reserve. John, married and the father of a son and a daughter, was born in Mesopotamia, has served in the old Army Air Force in World War II, has lived in Daly City for 7 1/2 years. Komo flew as a B-17 aerial gunner in 35 missions over the Balkans, Rhineland, the North Apennines, and Rome. He also served as a Staff Sergeant of Military Police.

COUNTY DOINGS

by JACK WOOD

With Valentine's Day fast approaching, it seems everyone is having a ball. The entertainment page is fast taking over the highlights in San Mateo County. For instance:

San Carlos is about to celebrate "Old Barbary Coast" night Feb. 10 with a Chicken Ball.

Pacifica will try to raise funds for a community center with a Saturday night grand "Sweetheart's" ball.

The play "Bell, Book and Candle" is featured at the Theatre Workshop of San Bruno, Feb. 10 and 11.

South San Francisco police have a new innovation. A special bargain parking ticket which allows all-day parking in three of the downtown parking lots. The half price rate on the ticket is $4 per month, or $12 per quarter.

Supervisor James Fitzgerald has predicted the fall of the North County Flood Control District program which was designed to alleviate the flooding conditions in the Colma Creek area and its tributaries.

South San Francisco will face the alternative of either financing the program entirely or dropping the matter. The San Bruno City Council voted itself out last week, arguing that the flooding is South San Francisco's problem, not its.

City clerks throughout the North County report this is the quietest pre-campaign period cities have experienced in recent years. Hardly any official candidate has surprised the local political observers.

But a last-minute surge is expected before the Feb. 15 filing deadline. Registration for the municipal elections also closes on Feb. 15.

A nice enough prize these days is gasoline. And one of the top prizes of the winners of the South San Francisco first annual Police Athletic League benefit singles bowling tournament, which opens March 17, is 1,000 gallons of gasoline. Only thing is, you have to have some place to put it.

San Bruno's spring election campaign has already erupted with the announced formation of the San Bruno Better Government League.

The purpose of the group is to select three candidates who will represent the people of the community and then elect them. Among the 17 directors of the League's board were 10 officers of the San Bruno Committee for Control of dirt-hauling, critics of San Bruno's recreation program and bitter opponents of high-rise apartments in the new subdivisions.

Food For Thought

Be Loyal To The Royal In Yourself

"What is Man that God is mindful of him? . . . Thou have crowned him with glory and honor." Psalm 8.

The mood of our day many times unfortunately seems to be one of cynicism. This unfortunate attitude has caused many to lose sight of the sacredness of mankind imparted to each person by God. It is certainly true that many daily events in our world cause many to feel that man has developed a "Frankenstein Civilization," and mankind will soon be crushed under the wheels of his own conniving.

However, we need to remember not all is on the debit side of Man's world. There have been, and are still, many who respect the sacredness of human life. A cloth weaver in Edinburgh, Scotland, used to pray "O God, help me to hold a high opinion of others and myself." Alfred Lord Tennyson used to say concerning Queen Victoria, "She was Loyal to The Royal in herself."

Shakespeare had Polonius say to his son, Laertes: "This above all: To Thine own self be true and it must follow."

As the night the day. Thou can not then be false to any man."

This is one of the great purposes of God to help us become aware of our relationship with Him. We are all His Children. Jesus Christ reminded men: "You are the sons of God! The Kingdom of God is within you!" These words were clearly to help us become more aware of the high purposes that God has endowed each life with. Life is valuable and should not be wasted, but be dedicated to the highest purpose of God. That high purpose being that our relationship with each man may be one of the highest sense of respect for we are each sons under the Fatherhood of God.

As we realize each person endowed with God's Image we can truly become daily "Loyal to the Royal in Ourselves." The final measure of any civilization is determined by its willingness to observe the sacredness of each human life. However, no man can show proper respect to others, or to God, unless he maintains a proper respect for himself. Thus let us seek to consecrate our lives to God by asking ourselves in each daily relationship, does this manifest love, kindness, forgiveness, patience, and constructive uplift?

Let us in everything we do, everything we think, and every place that we journey remember: "Be Loyal to the Royal in Yourself." The Royalty imparted to you from God as His Child.

HAROLD W. THOMPSON, Minister, Wesley Methodist Church, Daly City.

Something For Everyone

by Samuel Chandler

The first sentence in Justice Douglas' newest book is "We Americans are at a fateful crossroads of history. We are smug and complacent as we enjoy the highest standard of living in the world. Yet we drift dangerously and if present trends continue, we shall be a second rate power in the world."

The book shelves are full of statements like this by noted thinkers who focus our attention upon signs of America's lack of culture and classical education. Who are concerned with her pre-occupation with machines, pseudo science and shallow religion.

Justice Douglas' book is America Challenged. In it one confronts hard truths that cause him to wonder if we may lose our vigor and individuality and fall prey to strong influences toward conformity.

Three brand new books are: The Beer Can By the Highway by John Akouwenhoven; The Immediate Experience by Robert Warshaw and The Dimensions of Liberty by Oscar and Mary Handlin. Mr. Kouwenhoven calls attention to dangerous paradoxes in America. Mr. Warshaw examines movies and television to see the condition of America's culture. Mr. and Mrs. Handlin investigate the vital problems of preserving this country's freedom.

Still another book about American society is Mack Hanan's The Pacifiers. Here a professor of marketing writes of the influences of those symbols which he says dominate our civilization: sex, motherhood, success, sociability, youthfulness and sophistication. His book is an eye-opener coldly showing the goals and foibles of modern man.

The rewarding thing about these books is the sense of hope for America if her problems are resolved. Justice Douglas puts it this way: "We need a deep spiritual resources and active inventive genius to survive the oncoming challenges. This is why the complacency, the mediocrity, and the intolerance that have possessed us are our greatest enemies."

Really Interested In Job?

It has recently been called to our attention that perhaps not all of the schools in the elementary school district are quite as dedicated to their jobs as they would have us believe. By "dedicated" we seek to infer a true interest in the scholastic interest of a pupil.

There are not too many youngsters with either the intelligence or actual desire to work hard enough to receive "A" marks in elementary school work. When one does come along, it seems that the entire school system should be proud of it and do their utmost to aid said student in keeping up his "A" mark.

However, it has been brought to our attention that this, in at least one case, is not quite factual.

Due to illness, a student who was on the straight "A" path missed several days of schooling. He was not given a chance to make up the lost work but was given an "F" due to his absences. However, in all tests, in every subject he carried, his grade was "A."

Now—average the school given "F" (absence) against the "A's" (tests) and you get a "C." Is this fair to a young student who is really on the "A" path? Hardly! What must he think of the school system—and why should he try for top grades with the cards apparently stacked against him?

Absentee Ballots

Attorney General Stanley Mosk recently made a ruling on absentee ballots. He stated that these ballots must be received by an election clerk three days before an election and no extension of time can be permitted.

This ruling simply means that for a Tuesday election, absentee ballots must be received by the election clerk not later than the Saturday before the Tuesday election.

The 1961 Legislature amended the Elections Code to establish the three-day deadline before an election. It struck out the old law which permitted receipt of ballots six days after election, providing they had been mailed before election day.

It's About Time To Act!

Dr. James M. Bodie, chairman of the Respiratory Disease Committee of the San Mateo County Tuberculosis and Health Association, has announced that a public meeting to discuss air pollution is being called for Thursday, March 1. He states that the committee hopes to promote research into causes and effects of air pollution and to inform the public of research findings.

"We have reasons to suspect that breathing polluted air may have long-term effects on our health, surpassing in importance anything we can yet prove," Dr. Bodie said.

Dr. Bodie added that while the study of the health effects of air pollution is in its beginning stages, there is already abundant evidence that:

"Acute air pollution can cause death among the aged and infirm, and serious illness in the general population. It is a primary contributor to at least one specific disease—chronic bronchitis in Great Britain. It is possible that irritants present in air cause changes in the tissues of the respiratory tract and hamper breathing.

"Still unproved but supported by accumulating evidence is the theory that air pollution contributes significantly to mortality rates of many of the 'urban' diseases of contemporary society, including arteriosclerosis and other heart conditions and cancer of the lung, trachea, stomach, and esophagus.

"As our knowledge advances," Dr. Bodie concluded hopefully, "the day will draw nearer when we can confidently safeguard the air we breathe."

Chance To Be A Philanthropist

In the Diamond Jim Brady era a man had to be a millionaire to be classified as a philanthropist, or, more often than not, even a wastrel.

Kenneth G. Foster, the executive director of Goodwill Industries claims times have changed; today anyone can be either—and without having money in the bank. He cites as an example a recent newspaper article where employees of the Scavenger's Protective Association were asked to recall the most unusual items they'd found while emptying garbage cans. Of the eight men interviewed, only one remembered an extra-ordinary article—a lone wooden leg found in the trash of San Francisco's Old Hall of Justice.

Radios were mentioned by the dozen, and cameras; even a hi-fi set, a few TVs and a vacuum cleaner.

"When I think of those articles being thrown away," Foster said, "I think of the dozens of handicapped persons who come to Goodwill each day desperately looking for a job. Since we do not ask the public for financial support, the number of disabled persons we can hire is controlled by the amount of discards we receive. If only people in the habit of throwing away repairable discards would give us a call—or better still drop the items they no longer need in the Goodwill Collection Depot on the parking lot of the Mayfair Market, 6967 Mission Street in Daly City, they'd become philanthropists without cost."

Mother Held In Neglect Case

A Daly City mother of four children who said she and her children would be better off dead was taken into custody Feb. 3 by Daly City police.

Officers said Mrs. Gloria Jane Manuel, 28, of 363 Crocker avenue, gave the reason for a Feb. 3 suicide attempt was because her son, Mark, 3, suffered from a heart ailment.

She was taken to Junipero Serra Hospital for examination and from there to Community Hospital, where she was placed on a 72 hour hold. The children, Deborah, 9, Michael, 6, Robert, 5, and Mark, were taken to San Mateo County receiving home.

Early Calif. Days Plays At A. Lincoln

"Along the Santa Fe Trail," a play written and re-enacted by the third-fourth grade of Mrs. Joan Williams, Abraham Lincoln Elementary School, vividly presented the pioneer days in early California. The other third, fourth and fifth grades and parents of the actors involved were invited to attend the performance on Friday afternoon, Jan. 26.

Scenery for the play was designed by Carl Alacon. The main characters were: Grandmother, Lucy Palangian; two granddaughters, Elena Gryalva and Susan Bader; Zack, Eddie Jestead; merchant, Neir Goldman; pioneers, Dorit Papelbaum and Frank Smigel; scout, Richard Martin; John, Clyde Noel, and mother, Beverly Hoffman.

Other performers were: Trappers, Carl Alacon, Mike Bostick, Jeff Moss, Ray Hammond and Tony Corbello; square dancers, Vicki Arch, Denise Martinez, Carl Alacon, Ray Hammond, Penny Vouchilas, Mike Bostick, Barbara Anderson and Eddie Jestead; Indians, Claudia Martin, Brian Myers, Harold Faulkner, Donald Leuder, Daniel Crosbie, Jeannine Kite, Eddie Thomas, Guy Kerr and Kurt Heider.

From her rocking chair the grandmother relates the life of a party of pioneers moving west along the Santa Fe Trail.

The election of a captain under the wide branches of the Council oak, the tall stories of the trappers met briefly along the way, the relaxation of square dancing in the campfire light, and the meeting with friendly Indians — all were depicted by the children, the scenery changing as the story progressed. With music in the background, the entire class had the opportunity to display their knowledge of the history they have learned about those who struggled to build up the Golden State.

April Rummage Sale Set By Buri Buri

Plans have been made by the Woman's Club of Buri Buri for a Rummage Sale to be held in April as aid to the Fund raising drive toward the scholarships awarded each year by the group.

The club grants scholarships to graduating students of the South San Francisco High Schools, and considers this one of the most important of the club's functions. Mms. Arley Tripp and William David head the scholarship fund committee. Together with the other members of the committee and with the aid of the teachers of the schools they have the difficult job of choosing the recipients of the awarded scholarships.

Westmoor Linguists Learn With Ease

Working hand in hand to present an interesting and challenging foreign language program at Westmoor, the French, Spanish and German teachers and the three language clubs have succeeded in bringing to the students the best possible language education.

New methods of instruction have revolutionized the language classes. Tape recorders and records have been utilized to bring fuller understanding of the foreign dialects. French instructor John Milton has introduced French recorded songs to his classes and made copies of them, enabling the students to sing along with Gaul. In Milton's French classes, students memorize and recite dialogues into a tape recorder to gain practice in French conversation. In this way, the student may hear and correct his mistakes.

While they were studying Don Quixote, by Miguel Cervantes, the fourth year Spanish class attended the Russian production of this Spanish classic at the Vogue theater in San Francisco. In this way, the class enriched its understanding of el gran Quixote. Howard Miguel, language department head and fourth year instructor, can give his students the benefit of true Castilian background.

Activities that never wait for imagination or enthusiasm are enjoyed by all language club members. While providing entertainment and recreation, these activities are also an entirely pleasant learning process. To celebrate Christmas, Westmoor's German Club created an authentic German program, complete with German cookies, jubilant songs, and gay Deutsch records. Following the program, there was an exciting game of charades, all in German. At another club meeting, students heard Marlene Dietrich sing German verses. Mrs. Cecilia Hinz, the German instructor and club advisor, being a native of Germany, can offer to her students the extra advantage of complete familiarity with the customs and culture.

Featured as focal point of one Spanish Club meeting was a guest speaker, Annabella

Aguilar, who spoke of her native Guatemala, its people and way of life. "Ranchero" music provided by Norman MacDonald, advisor to the club, featuring guitars, violins and trumpets, also thrilled the club. High point of the fall semester was viewing the Spanish double-feature, "El Dolor de Pagar la Renta" and "Yo no Creo en los Hombres," accompanied by a Latin-American stage show, complete with singing and dancing. Mrs. Eunice Coupe also assists Mr. MacDonald with the club.

During an unusual evening out, the French Club enjoyed the traditional French dinner at a French restaurant. Going to the French consulate, Mr. Milton, club advisor, found French travel films and records for entertainment of French Club members. These films provided a fine "cultural hour" for these French students.

In every way, clubs and classes work together to give students a better language education. While Westmoor's language classes are giving language education and understanding, the language clubs are giving a change for interested students to enrich their understanding and enjoyment of the chosen foreign language.

CAROLYN KELLY (left) helps Paul Masini, Lisa Kelly and Diane Sorenson (behind Lisa) during storybook time at the Village Cooperative Nursery School. Village will put on an exhibit of work in Westlake Mall and Skyline Plaza, Feb. 8 and 9 from 10 a. m. to 12 noon.

Village Nursery To Show Children's Work

"We are delighted that our child can attend an accredited nursery school," says Carolyn Kelly, whose three-year-old Lisa is enrolled in Colma's Village Cooperative Nursery School. The cooperative, operating for the past 12 years under Jefferson Union School District, will hold open house for interested parents and their children Saturday, Feb. 10, from 1 to 3 p. m. at the Community Center on Dunke street in Colma. For more information phone Mrs. Kelly at PL 6-0317.

"We find it difficult to curb our enthusiasm. We convert our friends and are constantly learning," say the parents at Village. Parents who work in the school with their children will explain (you can't stop them) all the advantages for the lucky child in a cooperative nursery school.

The children can stick their hands in clay, finger paints, play dough, chalk paint, easel paint, and build, and generally enjoy themselves. They don't know they are carefully supervised. They also have a rest period and story time.

Village is fortunate to have as director Mrs. Catherine Seghetti and her assistant, Mrs. Joy Nye. They give the children lots of Tender Loving Care, and help parents and children in the group to better understanding their relationships. Mrs. Seghetti has been with the school seven years.

To highlight Nursery Education Week, Village Cooperative Nursery School mothers will present exhibits in the Westlake Mall and Skyline Plaza Feb. 8 and 9 from 10 a. m. to 12 noon.

Telephone Film Seen By Olympia Students

Boys and girls at Olympia School were treated to an educational film last week by A. J. Engel, who works for the Pacific Telephone Company in this area.

Engel, whose son, Arthur, is in kindergarten at Olympia School, presented the films about telephones and how they work.

The film included concepts of varying sound waves and how they press against the metal disk, the diaphragm in the transmitter. This presses against carbon granules packing them and allowing electrons to pass.

In the receiver an electro-magnet blows in and air molecules magnet attracts a diaphragm when the electricity is flowing, rush in. When the electricity stops flowing, the diaphragm is released and as it snaps out molecules of air are forced out as sound waves.

Another telephone worker, Joseph Young, showed the children the truck and equipment a repairman uses. Telephone sets were also set up in the kindergarten room of Mrs. von der Mehden and Mrs. Hammond so that the children could talk to one another. Jack Eichelberger, telephone company photographer, took pictures of the children using the equipment for a company journal.

AUTO ASSOCIATION WARNS PEDESTRIANS

Turning cars are a major cause of pedestrian traffic accidents each year, said the California State Automobile Association in warning school children to remain alert when crossing the street.

Before you step off the curb, it pays to look to the rear as well as to the left and right to be certain the way is clear, the CSAA reminded pedestrians. It is all too easy to overlook vehicles approaching the intersection in preparation for a turn. Be sure to look ALL ways before crossing, the AAA motorists' organization said.

A safety poster illustrating the theme, "Watch for Turning Cars," is being distributed to schools in northern and central California and in Nevada as part of the regular monthly safety education program of the CSAA.

The new poster was a first prize winner in the American Automobile Association's National Traffic Safety Poster Contest. The poster will be reproduced and distributed by AA motor clubs in many sections of the country.

Sing Along With Daniel Webster

"She'll be Comin' Round the Mountain When She Comes" is just one of the peppy songs enjoyed at an assembly song fest at the Daniel Webster School on Thursday, January 25.

Kindergartners, sixth graders, and all the pupils between, sang one song after another for one half hour. Variety and movement added to the fun. Mr. Tom Notaro, fourth grade teacher, led the singing which was unaccompanied.

All-school singing is an activity that was frowned on for many years by music educators but is now being revived. In their zeal to have music be recognized as a part of the curriculum rather than as a "frill" the educators caused several generations of children to lose the pleasure and inspiration that comes from group singing.

The third graders in Mrs. Nancy Rice's class for language arts experiences are writing letters to each other. Each day they "mail" them and the following day a "postman" from the class delivers them.

Correct letter form and punctuation are improving and the personal touch is creating unusual interest.

The first grades of Daniel Webster school received a letter of acknowledgement thanking them for the hand crafts which they made for the Veteran's Hospital and which was distributed through the Jr. Red Cross.

Mrs. Carle's class made ash trays of clay and Mrs. Gould's class made tray mats with sculptured paper flowers.

Mr. Notaro's room has a rare worm. It is a multicolor specimen about seven feet long and strangely resembles paper. In case you haven't guessed, it is a bookworm. Each book adds a link to its tail. The class has read 36 books to reach the present length. This is a fourth and fifth grade class.

S.S.F. Council Views Yellow Cab Rate Charge

The South San Francisco City Council on Feb. 5 introduced the first reading of an ordinance regulating the rates, rules and practices of taxicabs, buses and rent cars operating in the city.

An ordinance was also introduced to add new police lieutenant and fire battalion chief positions to the city.

The Yellow Cab rate change request is that rates remain the same — 50 cents for each first quarter of a mile and 50 cents for each fifth of a mile thereafter, instead of a quarter mile rate of 50 cents. Another rate change request is that waiting time rates for cabs be set at 8 cents per minute instead of 5 cents.

The council okayed a request of the Sons of Italy to conduct a carnival in South San Francisco in May. A hearing was continued on a resolution regarding amendment of the zoning ordinance and adoption of a new zoning map.

The sales staff and their wives were served a champagne supper, complete with all the New Year's decorations, plus dancing and entertainment. Freeway Crash Involves DC Man

A station wagon driven by Harold Wachter, 43-year-old Cantor at Temple Judea in Daly City, was damaged on Feb. 4 in an accident on the Bayshore Freeway in San Mateo in which a San Francisco housewife was seriously injured.

Highway patrolmen said Eli O. Jarvey, 51, was driving his pickup truck northbound when traffic stopped suddenly. He slammed on the brakes and the truck went out of control, clipping the rear of Wachter's car. Jarvey's wife, Helene, 50, was taken to Mills Memorial hospital.

About 600,000 U. S. vacationers visit Mexico annually.

Vista Mar School News

"The Vista Mar News," another class paper of the second grade level of Mrs. Jeane Oberlander's made its initial circulation. This group has been involved in the area of "Communication" and recently toured the Marchbanks Publications. Student Janet Coker is the editor.

The paper includes news "Around Vista Mar" in terms of experiences children are enjoying in their classes.

James Maloney, father of Terry, one of the students in Mrs. Jeane Oberlander's class, who is employed by the telephone company is scheduled to talk to the class. At this time the class will invite as guest second grade students from Miss Mary Helen Monore's second grade.

To culminate this specific area of the activity an educational tour is being planned to the Plaza exchange of the Pacific Telephone Company.

Three visiting professors from Fresno State College—Dr. Orley Wilcox, director of administration, Dr. Ace Griffiths, guidance consultant, and Dr. Harold Jones, placement director visited Vista Mar School.

Their visit was prompted by their interest in not only the school plant and its architectural award in 1959, but also to discuss philosophy in areas of curriculum, administration practices at the school level, and educational practices developed to provide the best educational possibilities for children.

After visiting Vista Mar they toured the Education Center and discussed the Instructional Material Library with the coordinator, Bob Muller. After meeting Jack Danielson, director of guidance, Dr. David Shapiro and Dr. Vinton Stratton, assistant superintendent, they visited the other elementary school in the district which had received an architectural award—Fernando Rivera.

The visiting professors regretted not visiting with Superintendent Foster, who was involved at a meeting at the time of their tour of the education center.

The students at Vista Mar are reaping the benefits of several new literature recordings acquired by the Jefferson Elementary School District library.

The fifth grade children are listening to "Treasure Island" narrated by Hans Conreid. It is part of a series of famous stories from literature presented as "talking books."

The primary grades are listening to such selections as "Just So Stories," "The Ugly Duckling," "Mother Goose," and "Dr. Seuss."

All of the stories are told by professional actors. In addition to enriching the literature program, the recordings are valuable tools in improving the listening skills of the students.

Lincoln Children Have "Whale Of A Time"

Through the eyes of the past, in an environment of the long ago whaling days in Early California, the fourth grade students of Mrs. Anne Byerly and Mrs. Sylvia Broderick, spent the day, Thursday, January 25, in an early Spanish community in Sausalito.

The children toured the Old Whaling Station site, discussed the suitability of its location and compared its equipment with more modern methods. After a picnic lunch in the park, the students took snapshots of the San Francisco skyline and identified well known historical landmarks.

Mrs. George O'Hare, class mother of Mrs. Broderick's room, accompanied the group. "Walking is the most simple form of transportation," the second grade classes of Mrs. Barbara Russell and Miss Peggy Kirk, discovered on Tuesday, January 23, on their visit to the Skyline Shopping Center.

The six block walk from the school took much longer than the usual coverage by automobile or bus, but the leisurely hike presented the children with the opportunity to view many before unnoticed landmarks, the identification of community helpers—such as policemen, firemen, mailmen and milkmen, as well as the appreciation of the geographical contours of the avenue.

At the shopping center they discovered the identity of many more community helpers and they returned to school with new ideas for discussion and display in the classroom.

Cubs From Pack 62 Hold Feb. 2 Meeting

Cub Pack 62 held its monthly pack meeting February 2 at George Washington School. Cubmaster Ray Garcia presided.

The flag ceremony was conducted by Ricky Bailey, Ronald Bender and Greg Hansen, all from Den 1.

Minutes of the January 25 committee meeting were read by the secretary, Mr. Abigana. Cubmaster Garcia elaborated on the minutes by asking that mothers of cub scouts try to visit their boys den at least once a month. In this way they would be enlightened on how a den meeting is run in case their help is ever needed. He also asked that Den Fathers help with den meetings.

Scoutmaster Heddel from Troop 62 was the guest for the evening.

On behalf of the pack, Stephen White presented a gift of a pen and pencil set to his father, Jack White, who is leaving the pack as treasurer. Mr. White was also presented with a pin from the council. Mr. Stein will be the new treasurer.

Awards were presented by awards chairman, Harold Heisch, to the following boys: Wolf Badge, Greg Hansen and Gary Kushman. Bear Badge, Gary Hansen and Donald Heisch. Lion Badge, Gary Bender, Denner, Gary Pascucci, Assistant Denner, Keith Nieves, Recruiter Badge, Raymond Besson, Gary Hansen and Michael Moore. Gold Arrow, Raymond Besson and Donald Heisch. Two Silver Arrows, Donald Heisch. One year pin, Den Mother Helen Elliott and Gary Kushman. Two year pin, Cubmaster Garcia and Assistant Cubmaster Hansen.

New bobcats welcomed into the pack by Assistant Cubmaster Hansen were Mark Callan, David Hathaway and Peter Hyna.

The attendance award was won by Den 5 for perfect cub and parent attendance.

Awards were presented to the winners of the Pinewood Derby held January 27 at George Washington School. Winners were: Eight year old group, 1st place, Greg Hansen, 2nd place, Gordon Berg, 3rd place, John Balestrieri. Nine year old group, 1st place John Abigana, 2nd place, Gary Kushman, 3rd place, Gary Hansen. Ten year old group, 1st place, Donald Heisch, 2nd place, Gary Garcia, 3rd place, Gary Bender. Over-all winner was Donald Heisch. Ribbons were presented to all the boys who did not win, but who helped make this derby an exciting and worthwhile event. Cubmaster Garcia thanked the following committee men for their help: Abigana, Bender, Bias, Hansen and Moore.

Mr. Hyna, Scoutmaster Heddel, and Cubmaster Garcia participated in a very impressive ceremony for three boys going from Cubbing into Scouting. The boys are Chester Lee, James Martin and Stephen White, who are now officially Boy Scouts with Troop 62.

The Pack's outing in February will be a trip to Pescadero. Den Mothers will be informed of the date in the near future.

Good parent participation is hoped for to make this outing a success.

The Pack's window display is ready for out Week. Location of the display and parade details will be given to the Den Mothers to pass on to the Cubs. Church attendance was encouraged for all Cubs on February 11.

Cubmaster Garcia introduced a new Den Mother, Mrs. Maureen Fisher.

The meeting came to a rousing close with a game and Scout yells led by Mr. Hyna.

M. P. Brown PTA To Celebrate Founders' Day

Who was Margaret Pauline Brown? Why should a school in the Jefferson Elementary School District be named in her honor?

Members and friends of the M. Pauline Brown PTA will be finding out the answers to those questions and learning other interesting and pertinent facts as Mrs. Katherine Mullen speaks to the unit at its Feb. 8 Founders' Day meeting.

The speaker, a member of the JESD board of trustees, has long held a position of respect in San Mateo County for her efforts toward the betterment of educational facilities. It was during this work that she furthered her acquaintance with the late Mrs. Brown and it is on the basis of this friendship that she will speak at next Thursday's 8 p. m. meeting.

Also on the agenda for the Founders' Day observance will be music presentation by students of Larry Anderson's sixth grade class, which will include the choral debut of the "M. Pauline Brown School Song."

Highlighting the evening will be the awarding of an honorary life membership and pin as a special recognition to an individual who has given outstanding service to children and youth. Making the presentation will be Mrs. George Buell, chairman for both the Founders' Day and Honorary Life Membership committees.

Not limited to members only, M. Pauline Brown PTA invites any and all interested or curious persons to attend the meeting in the school's multi-use room.

This article is written by Daly City Firemen so that the public will become to a greater degree, aware of their Fire Department and their activities.

During the time it takes you to read this article, one, maybe two homeowners somewhere in the United States will be frantically dialing their local Fire Department. The fire they report will range from an overcooked steak in the broiler to a raging inferno that is destroying rooms, furnishings, and possibly life.

Now, shall be bore you with some statistics? Why not. Eight hundred homes in the United States are involved in fires, every two minutes, every hour of the day, every day of the year. 105,465 people perished in fires during the ten year period of 1950 to 1960. We don't know what percent were children but we are sure it's rather high. In that same period of 1950 to 1960 fire damage amounted to $9,389,682,000. Quite a drain on the national economy.

This loss of life and dollars reflects on the entire nation. Whether it be a loved one who perished in a fire, a home destroyed, people unemployed because the factory no longer exists, or because of higher fire insurance rates.

In 1925 matches and cigarettes caused 25% of the fires, and improper use of electricity 20%. In 1960 the percentages were exactly the same, cigarettes and matches 25%, electrical 20%. Even houses of worship are not exempt from disaster.

It takes a little head work but lets all try. Just to mention a few things to be careful of:

Keep plenty of ashtrays handy and watch out for the hot ashes on the sofa. Stay away from Jules Verne electrical wiring in your basement, and don't put pennies behind fuses.

The New Year has just begun, but before December 31 comes around approximately 11,000 people will be dead from fires. It can happen to one of us as well as to our neighbor down the street.

During the week of January 21, to January 27, your Fire Dept. responded to the following calls:

Lockouts-5, animal rescue-1, false alarms-5, house fires-2, trash-2, electrical-2, inhalator-1, washers-2, smoke invest-4, auto accident-1, rescue-1, storm damage-2, miscellaneous-3. Total, 31.

—Thought for the week— "Don't run electrical wires under rugs."

Young house-bound wives and mothers of Westlake are invited to attend this club meeting weekly at the Westlake Bowl. It is sponsored by the North San Mateo County unit of the YWCA. Free nursery care for children is available.

Novel Valentine Day Celebration For Local Kids

Local youngsters will celebrate "Valentine's Day" in a novel way when they view the first Children's Home Society benefit of "The Nutcracker Suite" on Friday, Feb. 16, at 7:30 p. m. in Nourse Auditorium, Van Ness and Hayes streets in San Francisco.

This outstanding all puppet ballet will be presented locally prior to its engagement at the Seattle World's Fair. The hour-long production departs from the traditional Tchaikovsky ballet and offers unique and startling life-like impressions of the popular concert suite. Children and their parents will be fascinated by the old art of puppetry so cleverly exhibited.

Westlake Stardust Chapter members of the adoption agency, Mrs. Trevor Geddes, PLaza 5-4916, and Mrs. Lawrence McDonnell, PLaza 5-1710, may be contacted for tickets priced at one dollar.

Proceeds from the performance will aid the 70 year old state-wide private adoption home in finding happy, permanent adoptive homes for children of all races and creeds.

A. Lincoln Class Enjoys Bay Cruise

"By land and by sea," the opportunity to study the geography of the Bay, the islands and the harbor was delightfully enjoyed by the third grade with Miss Jacqueline Long, teacher, Friday, Feb. 2.

Accompanied by three class mothers — Mrs. Conte Gressani, Mrs. Frank Mendez and Mrs. Gordon Keenan, 34 students traveled by bus around the harbor and the Embarcadero. They embarked on a Bay cruise boat, viewing the San Francisco skyline, seeing at close hand the Bay Bridge, sailing past Treasure Island and Yebra Buena Island and circling Alcatraz.

An aircraft carrier, anchored in the Bay, unknowingly put on a special show for the enthralled children. Conducting ocean type maneuvers, planes and helicopters swooped down from the sky onto the carrier's broad runways, then turned and sped away over the city and the Bay.

The bus trip back to school took the class around the Presidio, past the Cliff House and Seal Rock and through Golden Gate Park.

The Carson Mansion in Eureka, built in 1884, is a State Historical Monument.

Central American Education

(Time for a recess while we stop to preview another chapter from the forthcoming book, "We Slept in the Damned Places," covering humorous episodes during a serious educational expedition).

CHAPTER V "Clipped!"

(The following was described by Paris Simmons, one of the four scoutering Ben Franklin teachers, via a tape recording, which was made immediately following the experience related).

Dear Tape Recorder: As you well know from previous recordings, it is my belief that one must make a serious attempt to sample both food and customs in order to understand a culture different than our own. Friend Vic has been a serious problem to this endeavor of mine, and has been most discouraging to this pursuit, since he refuses to join me in any dish (food), that does not appear similar to that served in the USA. In fact, he has made numerous remarks of a most uncomplimentary nature, stating that I would eat the most undesirable kinds of foods, if only someone told me it was a native dish. He elaborated on this, I won't. He even went further, and actually used strong adjectives to describe my digestive tract.

With this as a simple introduction, I wish to report, for our group, one of the most thrilling and exciting experiences endured by the speaker, to date, on this motorcoter expedition through Central America. This adventure did occur in Mexico City. It could have occurred anywhere, including the USA, but it didn't.

To cut this short and to get to the top of the matter, I got clipped! I got snipped! I got a Spanish haircut—third class. Please allow me to tell you of this adventure. I announced to my three companions, Carl, Bob and Vic, that I did not care for a siesta on this particular afternoon, and was going out to sample culture. (Of course, as you might expect, Vic was not bashful about expressing his views on what I would be sampling). I told them I was going out to get a haircut, and they were welcome to join me. No one was in the mood, so I left the hotel and started to walk down a by-street leading to the center of town. The rains came. Being a Californian I imagine this rain was similar to that which they have in Florida, almost a hurricane. In the middle of this downpour I spied a shop and made a dash in. Not since this is a truthful narrative I must say I didn't dash in, I fell in!

This requires explanation. The front of the building of the Tonsorial Parlor was completely nude (no windows or doors) with the exception of three columnades holding the building up. In addition there were three stairs, directly behind the columnades that led into the barbershop. In my dash for shelter from the elements of the weather, and my not looking where I was going, my dash ended in a splash, at the bottom of the three stairs, on a hard cement floor, instead of the intended padded barber chair. Gathering myself up in the dignity left to me, I approached the three barbers waiting attendance on me. All were showing their pearly white teeth in broad grins. I am sure the grins were intended to be laughs, but they knew by laughing they would lose a customer, and they would have anyway, but the rains were still coming down, Florida style.

The Mexican people have a wonderful sense of control. In this instance I felt they were just happy fellows, until I left the establishment and they went into hysterics. I am not sure, to this day, whether they were laughing at my entrance or my departure. The barber chairs were of very ancient vintage, (probably pre-Columbian). To accompany this unusual decor was the factor that no electricity of any kind was used in the shop. It is only fair to mention there was one modern convenience. This was a hand mirror that had been fastened to a wall in front of one of the three barber chairs.

The barbers, proudly showing their glistening dental work, were all very cordial, particularly when I asked in my pigeon (coo-coo) Spanish if anyone could speak English. The reply I received was, "Si, Senor. We speak Spanish very well." From this, it did not take long to discover that no one in the whole business establishment spoke English and that any communication would have to be made through my pigeon Spanish and international sign language.

An empty chair was pointed out to me, and I took it, although not comfortably—but I took it. Cement floors have an odd way of reacting on the way you accept or reject a chair. I had no sooner seated myself when a towel (pre-pre-Columbian era) was thrown about my neck and my barber took his place at my side—snipping and snapping with the most enormous pair of clippers I have ever seen. I began to squirm a bit, and tried my best to slide under the (towel) in the hopes that a few of the snips and snaps would not reach their intended destination. As I opened my mouth to give directions to my barber on the hair style I desired, the snippers, or snappers, went into action and the left side of my head was peeled as smooth as a watermelon.

My face must have expressed the same type of horror as a person going to the gas chamber, for the other two barbers came over to my barber and immediately entered into a heated debate. They shook their heads, hands, fingers, arms, everything, while speaking so fast and loud that I could not interpret a single grunt. Finally, one went over and brought back a group of pictures of young men with a variety of hair styles and indicated I was to choose the type I desired. I was delighted to think I would be given the opportunity to select a style, forgetting for the moment that I was half-scalped, and made a choice.

At once all the barbers congratulated themselves, slapping each other on the back, beaming at each other and at me. Then, in very slow and precise Spanish I was told I had selected the best haircut and service in the house, called the "professional." I do not know whether or not a shudder passed over me, but it should have!

My attendant was an expert with clippers. He was very attached to them, for he never let them off his person. It was quaint sight to see him place one end of the clippers in his mouth while he worked on my half-scalped head with a pair of scissors, nip, snap, snip, for what seemed an eternity. At long last he breathed very deeply, deposited his clippers in his pocket and started to prepare a lather, with a brush that looked to be the remains of a very old horse's tail.

When the barber completed his mixing of the lather formula, he approached my chair and began, in a most professional manner, to spread the concoction all over my head with the horses tail. Honestly, at this moment, dear tape recorder, I was attempting to remember the remedy for ringworm, leprosy and the galloping crud—for no avail. I had gone this far there was no quitting. I was getting a Spanish professional treatment. I had to go all the way for an education was involved, whether it was my barbers' or mine, it still is a provocative question.

After splashing the lather on, the barber left the chair, returning in a moment to give me a magazine, written in Spanish, which I recognized as a detective book featuring a story on Jack the Ripper, while he sharpened his razor, which looked to me like a machete.

The barber had a unique way of shaving without water, so that the water was never missed (He used the perspiration running down my face and neck to great advantage). With the almost hairless horses tail for the lathering brush and an extremely sharp razor, he would stand back, make a profound study of the area to be denuded of hair, make a reasonable estimate, then a fast swipe at the customers head, rapidly turning the razor over and pressing the blunt side into the skull, much as if he were attempting to stop a flow of blood. If you happened to look into the mirror during this operation, you would not only lose ten years off of your life span, but swear you were also losing both ears. Actually, this was an extremely gifted barber. My problem was to convince him to allow me to keep mine.

Selecting another towel from the used box, the barber removed the several layers of lather, and then called to a small boy, evidently an apprentice, who brought to the barber a bottle which appeared to be contraband tequila. This the barber poured over my head so liberally that I was quite certain I would receive a citation for being intoxicated in or about a barber shop.

Next, the barber showed me another bottle and said, "Si," to which I replied "Si," I had gone this far, no choice remained. I knew whatever he

Mil Kraus Is New Girl Scout District Head

"My future lies with the Girl Scouts" was the statement made by Mrs. Rudolph E. Kraus, new district chairman of the Girl Scouts in the Daly City-Colma area. Appointment was made by the San Mateo Girl Scout Council two weeks ago and Girl Scouts in this area are very happy and congratulate her heartily.

Mrs. Kraus has been with the Girl Scouts of this area for the past six years, having started as a Brownie leader for Troop No. 70 when her daughter, Sharon, became a Brownie.

Sharon is now 14 years old, an eighth grader and will go on to senior scouting next year. Her mother will continue with the same troop as a senior leader. It has not yet been decided whether the troop will become Trail Blazers or go into International Friendship.

Husband Rudolph has been a committee member for five years and will receive the five year recognition award this year. Recently, he was made products sales chairman for the San Mateo County Girl Scout Council, handling sales of cookies and calendars for the council.

deposited on my hair, at this point, would not matter. The first bottle completely killed my sense of smell. The crowning glory of the professional treatment was the application of the oil, or grease. This defies any description, except to admit I now know exactly how a greased pig feels, for the first time in my life. The barber then took the mirror from the wall and held it in front of me. I shut my eyes. I didn't want to look. I paid him his 16c plus 4c tip and returned to the hotel to receive the ridicule of my companions, which was both long and loud.

Plant Your Own Back Yard Berries

Few treats, whatever their source, are tastier than a bowl of fresh-picked berries from your garden. Money can't buy the same juicy succulence, which proves that some of the best things in life really are free.

There's nothing easier or more delightful to the home gardener than to harvest an annual crop of blackberries or raspberries or both. They require no great amount of space and their upkeep is considerably less than some fruit crops.

If you would plant a backyard berry patch, however, it must be done before the dormant season runs out on us at the end of this month. So waste no time thinking about it and start planting now.

The cane berries, one and all, prefer an acid soil to one that's alkaline, and a deep soil to one that's shallow. Their requirements are very simple and keeping them watered is really the most important thing.

The simplest way to grow Boysen Berries, Logan Berries and others in the blackberry family is on a two or three wire trellis. This can be simply constructed by stringing wire between two sturdy end posts. Depending on the space your garden affords, the trellis can be as long or short as you want, with smaller posts or stakes spaced as needed for support. The wires should be about two feet apart with the bottom one about two and a half feet above the ground.

During the first spring-summer season, there will be no crop, since the berries are only born on last year's canes. Obviously you won't have any "last year's canes" during the first season. Each year after the planting starts to bear, the canes which bore fruit should be cut to the ground and the new canes should be lifted off the ground, where they have been let to grow, and wound loosely around the trellis.

Raspberries are less vigorous than blackberries and are simply tied to a two wire trellis of some three feet high. Once you get the hang of it, there's nothing to it... nothing anyway that should deter you from giving yourself such a treat.

Earnestly striving to truly live up to the designation "community station" KPX has launched a most ambitious public service project for the year 1962. Running the gamut from religious programs to documentaries on film, from new educational series for young students to adults, Channel 5 has titled the new project "Community of Strangers." They selected this name because they feel that with so many new residents in the Bay Area (many times living in one community and working in another) the new citizens do not know each other or the problems of their communities. It is hoped that this ambitious project can weld the Bay Area together, make residents aware help to solve some of the problems of the community at large and let the new citizens do not know each other or the problems of their communities.

A great deal of painstaking research has gone into the project trying to decide where to concentrate their efforts. Each week there will be several new programs that will be part of this effort. We are particularly gratified that there will be some programs that will be directly concerned with our immediate area.

Such a worthwhile effort deserves your support. It is much easier to toss "brickbats" rather than "bouquets"—why not reverse this process and let KPX know that you applaud their efforts.

On the subject of worthwhile efforts, certainly deserving a "bouquet" is KGO-TV who on Feb. 10 will televise the debut concert of the San Francisco Symphony from 10 to 11 p.m. The program, which is also being carried by KOVR-TV in Sacramento is offered as a community service to viewers by Channel 7 in commemoration of the Symphony's Golden Anniversary.

Practically "popping the buttons off their vest," TV Guide has just announced that their circulation has passed 8,370,000 ranking with Reader's Digest as the weekly and monthly magazines America prefers most. Congratulations to the handsomely little magazine which is well deserving of recognition.

TV NEWS ITEMS: Debating this week over KQED new series "Great Decisions" with top news commentator Howard K. Smith. Also beginning this week KQED's second semester of instructional television with more extensive coverage in Mt. Diablo area on Channel 80. Featured speaker before the Art Guild of Pacifica on Feb. 12 is well-known artist and producer of educational television films, Bill Wagner of Westlake who will show his film "Scribbles."

Class Opens On Filing Income Tax

How many of us lose money each year by not knowing the income tax laws? How many of us fail to take full advantage of the legal rights concerning income tax deductions? Industry and prosperous individuals know these laws, and now anyone who is willing to spend one night a week for six weeks at the South San Francisco Adult School can also find out this information. The class in Income Tax preparation at South San Francisco Adult School that opens Wednesday evening, Feb. 7, still has a few openings. Here is an opportunity to receive expert instruction from Robert Miller, South San Francisco lawyer and income tax expert. For further information, call South San Francisco Adult Evening School, 7 to 10 p.m., Monday through Thursday, at JUnio 9-6285.

Tidball Named Parkmerced Safeway Mgr.

William Tidball, manager of the Shoreview San Mateo Safeway store since it opened in January, 1959, has been promoted to manage the recently opened Parkmerced San Francisco store. Replacing Tidball is Bob Kranz, formerly manager of a Martinez Safeway store.

A Safeway employee since 1952, when he was hired as a food clerk, Kranz held a number of supervisory positions prior to his appointment as store manager in 1960.

Kranz is a native of San Francisco and veteran of World War II, having served two years with the U.S. Navy. Kranz and his wife, Gloria, have three children—Mike, 11; Teri, 7, and Gary, 6. They now reside in Concord but plan to move to San Mateo in the near future.

Pacificans Fete City Historian

The AAUW of Pacifica and the San Mateo County Free Library joined in honoring Mrs. Florence Novak at a reception held at the Pacifica Library January 25. Mrs. Novak has recently retired after serving the Pacifica Library since 1949. The occasion also marked the 30th anniversary of the Library in the Pacifica area.

The AAUW presented Mrs. Novak with a corsage. Miss Ross, county librarian, made a presentation to Mrs. Novak of a scrapbook recalling the years Mrs. Novak served the Library and the community. Miss Ross also read a letter of appreciation from the community schools.

On special display at the library were some of the books from the county's special California Collection containing many rare and valuable books on the history of the area. Scrapbooks kept by Mrs. Novak, former city historian of Pacifica, were on display as well as newspaper clippings of the library's progress.

Our Redeemer's To Join In Survey

Our Redeemer's Lutheran Church will join with ten city churches to serve as door-to-door visitors on a religious survey on Sunday, Feb. 11.

Maurice Turner, chairman of local arrangements, estimates that between 25 and 30 visitors will participate.

The residents of this community will be invited to give their church preference. Conducting a joint survey with churches of several different denominations will give all faiths an equal opportunity to be recognized. All survey cards will be shared with the churches of each particular denomination.

Madonna Auxiliary Plans Pot Luck

The Madonna Auxiliary will hold a Valentine "pot-luck" luncheon at the Madonna residence, 270 McAllister street in San Francisco, on Feb. 14 at 1 p.m.

This will be a pre-Lenten party in place of the regular meeting and all business matters will be deferred until the March meeting.

Mrs. Frederick T. West is the chairman of the day. The poinsettia is named for Joel Poinsett, the first U. S. Minister to Mexico, 1825-29.

Beware The Ides Of March

An inventor by the name of Gene Rhodes has concocted a device currently being exhibited at the Sports and Boat Show that is at least as devious in luring the living to the Eternal as the sirens who charmed the mariners onto the rocks, or the Piper of Hamelin who wailed the rats into the sea.

The name of this judas cow is Fabulous George, and like the hostess with the mostess he is the minnow with the motor or the lure with allure.

As an illustration I suppose exemplary of the long road our swinging society has traveled since the gaffed worm hung deliciously from grandpa's bent pin (and ah, how the poor peasant could land 'em), George is the product of the inventor's long mad hours spent over the shabby workbench, working furiously to make a tiny motor that would fit into George's homely little plastic body.

George, to the everlasting shame of every worm, is an electronic, sonic and motorized lure. To his intimates he is known as the "lure with allure for the big ones." And he's being marketed at the Cow Palace show by Lectrolure Co. of Stockton.

And as I know you await with baited (I had to) breath to find out whether he WORKS, I can report that those who have used him, swear by him.

"Two ways that you get a fish," said sales manager Frank Cusumano, "action and attraction. This little baby's got them both."

And I must admit, he is an intriguing little machine. His body is a soft plastic of greens, blues and yellows, and he has a small after fin that wiggles slowly, putt-putting him through the water. Were I a fish I would be damned interested in finding out what this crazy sonar-oriented pescado was up to.

"He'll attract anything that takes minnows," said Cusumano, "and he's got a big advantage over the other kind," (I suppose he means the REAL ones), he's stupid.

"What does a real minnow do when a fish takes out after him, he ducks under cover. Well, George can't do that. That big bass or flounder is going to catch him, come right up under that soft plastic stomach, and brother, you've got him."

George seems to be the hit of the show. And this apotheosis by the sportive set is a just reward for the long hours of subterranean obliquity his inventor must have spent at the bench. He's got as much crowd appeal as the decollete damsels that decorate the deck of the old paddlesheeler showboat.

And as we prepare to send our first rocket to the moon, I find it comforting to know that some of our geni are still busily at work trying to improve the more pliant sides of our life.

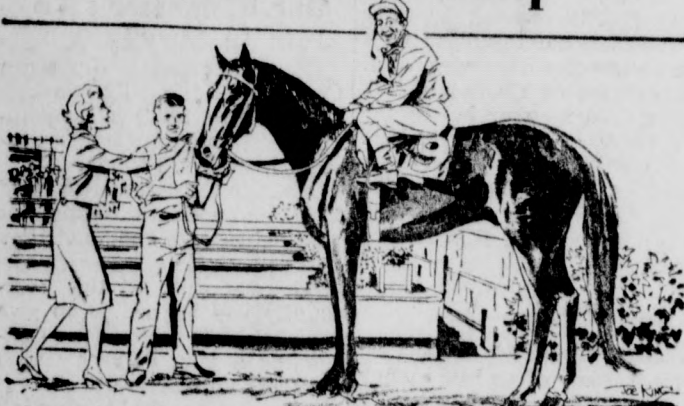

But alas, there is always the cost. What price glory? Consider the worm. After all these years to be replaced by a fake, a bloody bogus machine. We must find the worm a new job. Provide funds. Perhaps relocation...

Perennial Champ

Men who write about Thoroughbred racing regularly have a colorful supply of adjectives but one which they use with seeming reluctance is the word "Great." A horse must usually be long dead, or retired beyond recall, to the post before he earns the designation, Great. Rarely does a horse in training stand much chance in the Memory Handicap against the galloping ghosts of past greats. An exception to the rule is Mrs. Richard C. DuPont's great gelding Kelso. When the Thoroughbred Racing Association Board of Selection named Kelso the American Champion, horse of the year, for 1961 it was the first time a horse had gained this honor for two years in a row. One other great horse, Native Dancer, had twice been named American Champion but not in consecutive years. Native Dancer had the honor of being the only 2-year-old accorded this honor and he gained it again as a 4-year-old. Carrying handicap assignments of as high as 136 pounds, Kelso in 1961 became the third horse to win the Handicap Triple, The Metropolitan, Suburban and Brooklyn. In the Woodward Stakes he equalled Whisk Broom's 48-year-disputed record of 2 minutes for the mile and a quarter. While purse money won is not a true barometer of greatness Kelso is almost certain this year to become the greatest money-winning gelding of all time, a position held since 1949 by Calumet Farm's Armed with earnings of $817,475.

Jeff Drops 2 During Week To Mills, Cap

The Jefferson Indians, rounding out what was a complete week for Daly City basketballers, dropped both games last week to their Peninsula league opponents.

Last Wednesday against Mills, Jeff got off to a good start, and early in the second period took the lead. Then Vikings Gary Neese and Bruce Parsons, 11th and 13th in league scoring, started hitting and led Mills to a 15-14 half-time lead and a 42-35 victory.

Neese and John Hartford shared scoring honors for the Vikings with 14 points apiece. Stu Sibley and Darwin Haanen led for the Indians with nine points each.

In Friday night's contest with Capuchino at Westmoor High, the Indians never could get into the contest as the Mustangs roared to a 29-16 lead, then substituted, but held onto the lead to win it 56-30.

It was inability to hit from the field that killed whatever chances the Indians might have had. Jeff hit on only nine field goal attempts compared to 24 for Cap.

Ron Emilio took high point honors for his team and for the game as he dumped in six field goals and one free throw for 13 points. Rich Reitz was high for the Indians with 12 points, followed by Dar Haanen with five and Bob Brush with four.

On Monday night saw a new high series registered in the Olympia Club League as Westlake owner Johnny Swanson put his new Brunswick Crown Jewel ball to work and shot games of 219-191-210 for a 620 total.

Andy Andrews almost had the bowler's dream Monday night in the Happy Mixed Fives League as he had a 218 game, 523 series and converted the extremely difficult 6-7-10 split.

Had the four pin been included, he would have won one of the American Bowling Congress' coveted "Big Four" patches.

Jack Glass made his return to Westlake a profitable one as he took first prize of $40 in the Saturday Swiss Singles.

As this novel feature entered the tenth week, Bert Heineken led the field with a total of 47 points, one ahead of Jim Marston and six ahead of Frank Hubert. Every tenth week, trophies are awarded for the leaders in four categories:

Most pins, most match points, most bonus points and most total points.

Dick Birkett made a strong finish in the 805 Scratch League to shoot a big 211 game giving him a 603 total to lead the league for the evening.

Reservations are coming in fast for Saturday night's "No-Tap" tournament and dance. With vacations in Las Vegas to the leading man and lady, many Westlakers are looking for an opportunity for three days and two nights in Las Vegas, plus twenty-four dollars in credit for food, beverages.

Hilltoppers tallied 15 for his team.

The BYA Little Giants edged out the BYA Hotshots in a close one, 26-22. Conwell, of the Little Giants, was high man for his team with 14 points. Williams was high for the Hotshots with 7.

SEVENTH GRADE The PAL Warriors shot the PAL Tigers out of the saddle this week, 26-22, to end the three-way tie for first place. Mat De Bernardi was big man with 12 points.

The cellar-dwelling PAL Saints climbed into the win column this week. They did so at the expense of the PAL Lakers. Teddy Shaddox of the Lakers was high point man with 11. He was followed by teammate Ron Mini with 9, but Gray La Rosa and Valdez of the Saints divided 24 points evenly. To this, Blandini and Gillarducci added 6 each for a 36-23 victory.

"War Horse" Marin, aided principally by Mike Madigan, kept OLM in a tie for first place. Marin tallied 20 points and Madigan hit 14 as the OLM Angels defeated OLPH Crusaders, 33-12. Tino Salzano of the Holy Angels Falcons copped high point honors in his team's game against Ben Franklin Seventh.

EIGHTH GRADE New Pisa continued to outclass the league this week. The PAL Pistons fell victim to the high-scoring combination of Cook and Kitchiner, 53-20. While all the Pistons found the bucket, they could not match Kitchiner's 19 and Cook's 14 points.

This week, the Hawks dropped the OLPH Warriors, 67-24. The OLM Tankers rolled over the BYA Darts, 40-37. Baker of the Tankers was high with 18 points.

Bad Breaks Are Costly

In a game that was literally impossible to believe, the first place San Mateo Bearcats beat Westmoor last Wednesday in the Rams' gym, 66-62.

The Rams had made the Bearcats look like a grammar school team during the second and third periods, and with 4:13 remaining had a 56-48 lead. What happened then took steady concentration to absorb.

The Rams had evidently decided not to freeze the ball, and after getting a rebound brought it down court to set up a shot. Steve Schmuck, who had been dead with all his shots during this third period, got off a bad one to give San Mateo the ball. Then — in sequence — this is what happened:

● San Mateo took the ball down court and Bob Griggs hit — 56-50.

● Harry Brown and Gary Allard played footsy taking the ball out of bounds — each had a foot in and a foot out. San Mateo got the ball and Willie Colter hit. 56-52.

● The Rams got the ball down court to Mike Daniels who had hit four out of four during this period. Daniels tried to dribble in and stepped out of bounds. San Mateo took the ball down court; six-six center Tom Wilson hit on a jump shot. 56-54.

● The Rams came down court and a Harry Brown pass got into the hands of Wilson. The game. The rest was anticlimactic.

It took these breaks for the Bearcats to win it. Westmoor's percentages for the game

Hi-Fi Teen Club Hosts Workshop Sports Night

On the evening of Jan. 3, representatives of the Daly City Hi-Fi Teen Club, sponsored by the Department of Recreation, participated in a planning meeting for the coming Northern California Youth Council Workshop.

This workshop will be held at San Francisco State College on March 24. Attendance at the workshop will consist of youth club officers and leaders from throughout northern California.

The workshop theme will be "Organization for Teen Age Activity."

Hi-Fi Teen Club responsibility for the workshop will be the organization of a Sports Night for more than 100 of the attending representatives.

In turn, Hi-Fi representatives will attend sessions on organization for social activity, swim parties, decorations, community service projects and a brainstorming session on ideas for activity. The sessions will be followed by a free swim period and a dance in the evening.

Daly City youth have offered many outstanding contributions in past Northern California Youth Council activities. Numerous ideas and activities and procedures suggested by representatives of the Hi-Fi Teen Club have been utilized by youth groups from other areas in the state.

Their suggestions came from experience gained through participation in one of the largest teen clubs in the state of California. The Daly City Hi-Fi Teen Club at present has a membership in excess of 700.
